

BIBUS HYDRAULIK

BIBUS HYDRAULICS AG, a renowned Swiss industrial company, is a leading systems integrator in engineering, trading and services for hydraulic system solutions in both the mobile and industrial market segments. As a full-service provider, we develop customised solutions for our customers and drive them towards a future-oriented direction through the integration of electrified systems and the development of our own control software.

For our logistics department, we are looking for a responsible and committed employee as

Logistician EFZ (m/f) 100%

What you can do

In our logistics department, you will be at the heart of innovation. You will act as an interface between market/technology, suppliers, customers, and sales. Your core responsibilities include:

- Incoming goods inspection with processing via ERP system (MS D365)
- Picking and packing shipments for dispatch and our internal production
- Supplying and relocating goods
- Participation in inventory (rolling)
- Collection and delivery of material by van
- General logistics tasks

What you bring with you

- Completed apprenticeship as a Logistician EFZ
- Experience in logistics
- Good German language skills, both written and spoken
- Driving licence category B
- SUVA-approved forklift licence
- Experience with ERP and KARDEX systems
- Reliable and team-oriented personality
- Independent and accurate working style with a high degree of personal responsibility
- Enjoyment of technical products
- High flexibility

Our advantages for you

- You can expect varied and interesting tasks with a high degree of personal responsibility and great independence in a dynamic working environment.
- You can demonstrate your logistics skills on a daily basis. A well-established and motivated team will support you.
- We reward your performance with fair employment conditions in a modern workplace, as well as transparent and uncomplicated employment relationships in a family-run company.
